About Colbe breakout table

There's never going to be enough meeting rooms, but let's face it—most meetings don't require closed doors. While the Colbe breakout table certainly works within a conference room, it also perfectly accommodates standing meetings, casual work sessions, or quick side conversations in an open floor plan. Made of a high quality steel frame that matches the finish of our Jarvis desks, Colbe is set at a fixed standing height. Its robust foot rest spans the length of the table, and is designed to work with various Fully seating options.
